Inclusive commitment

Our programs and services are open to everyone, whether you are a beginner or an elite athlete.

At Curtin Sport and Recreation, we believe every student deserves the chance to enrich their university journey by getting involved in our programs and events.

We are dedicated to fostering a safe, inclusive, and welcoming space where diversity is celebrated, and everyone feels like they belong.

No matter your sporting ability, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, socio-economic background, nationality, or cultural and linguistic heritage—you are welcome here.

We proudly uphold a zero-tolerance policy towards discrimination and remain committed to championing inclusivity in everything we do.

Acknowledgement of Country

Curtin University acknowledges Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, the First Peoples of this place we call Australia, and recognises them for caring for Country for more than 60,000 years.

We are honoured and grateful for the privilege to maintain campuses operating in Boorloo (Perth) and Karlkurla (Kalgoorlie) in Australia.

We pay our respects to Elders past and present as Custodians and Owners of these lands.

We recognise their deep knowledge and their cultural, spiritual and educational practices, and aspire to learn and teach in partnership with them.

Curtin also acknowledges First Nations peoples connected with our global campuses. We are committed to working in partnership with all Custodians and Owners to strengthen and embed First Nations' voices and perspectives in our decision-making, now and into the future.

Description: The small circles through the middle represents all the schools. The longer circles represent the departments of the university; the wobbly lines represent the Canning River and the larger circles (2) represent the Elders of the Area and the bosses of the University.

Curtin Carnabys

The Carnabys, white-tailed black cockatoos found only in Western Australia, have made their home in the Maritime pine trees on Curtin University's campus. Known for their playful and social nature, these birds are loyal and always travel in flocks—much like the passionate community that supports Curtin sport.

When representing Curtin at InterVarsity events, our teams proudly compete as the Carnabys.
